and new in 2020 Adelaide Youth Winds

The Adelaide Youth Orchestras showcase over 250 young musicians each year. Selected from a wide demographic, our young musicians make a powerful contribution to Adelaide and South Australia's cultural landscape.

Aged between eight and twenty four, AdYO musicians are selected annually through audition.

Our five orchestras are the Adelaide Youth Orchestra, Adelaide Youth Wind Orchestra, Adelaide Youth Sinfonia, Adelaide Youth Strings and new in 2020, Adelaide Youth Winds. They provide opportunities for making music and musical pathways for young musicians. Students may also be invited to join AdYO's String Quartets, Wind or Brass Quintets.

Annual Program

AdYO's annual program includes rehearsals, tutorials, concerts, music, art and drama workshop weekends and local tours. Each orchestra presents several concerts at venues around Adelaide, including Elder Hall, Concordia College and the Adelaide Town Hall.

Highlights include:

- Tutorials and intensive rehearsals with musicians from the Adelaide Symphony Orchestra, Australian String Quartet and the Elder Conservatorium of Music
- AdYO's Gala Concert, featuring all of AdYO's orchestras in the Adelaide Town Hall
- Performing concertos with leading soloists
- School Tours

Commitment

Performing with our orchestras and ensembles requires a significant commitment from musicians and their families across the whole year. AdYO activities should take precedence over sport, social and work commitments. Before applying, we ask applicants to carefully consider their ability to attend all rehearsals, concert performances and other activities.

- With the exception of percussionists, applicants should have their own instruments.
- Applicants should be studying with an instrumental music teacher.

How to Apply

Before deciding to apply, please speak with your instrumental teacher. They are the best person to provide advice as to which orchestra/s to apply for. When preparing for your audition, we encourage you to find recordings of your excerpts and to perform them to your teacher.

Want to apply for more than one orchestra?

Simply use the add more audition details selection on the online audition application form for the orchestras you wish to be considered for.

Want to apply on more than one instrument?
